

We were contracted by Murphys to construct a raised inspection apron and a lower driver walkway, 180Lm long either side of the live electrified siding line.

The project scope consisted of:

- Removal, storage and re-use of 260 tonnes of ballast which was done by hand as overheads were live at all times.
- Installation of 402nr 150mm dia Grundomat piles, with 402 galvanised "T" piece gravel board retainers grouted into piles.
- Installation of 800nr 1.8m ballast retention boards, 4 per bay.
- Removal of 180Lm of existing footpath and existing 6 sets of 4 steps to gain access to track foot crossings.
- Removal of 16nr 800mm x 500mm x 300mm PCC lighting bases.
- Lay and compact 280 tonnes of type 1 stone and 25 tonnes of 6/2mm grano topping to the inspection apron's walkways.
- Re-kango pack the ballast along the full 180Lm of the siding track, where ballast had been disturbed during partial ballast removal from sleeper ends.
- Installation of 400Lm of galvanised handrail, including step returns and step raiser handrails.
- The installation of the limited clearance signs on the apron closest to the running line was the last operation carried out.

The demands of the project meant this high volume of work was to be completed in 4 weeks, which ordinarily would have commanded a much longer programme. The task was made more challenging as the OLE was live; therefore, all material removal/importing and pile installation was done using basic hand tools only.

Not only did the Universal Group team complete the works in time, it was done with zero incidents/accidents and to a very high standard. Highly commended by Murphys and NWR alike, this fantastic achievement was made possible due to all of Universal Group's individual divisions (Piling, Civils, Resource Solutions, Plant/ Yard and our Head Office) working together collaborativley and is a testament to everyone's hard work, committment, clear internal communication and united focus.
